Auditor's Report.

We hereby certify that we have examined the above accounts of the treasurer of the school district and find them correct and properly vouched for.

Chairman's Report.

To the Citizens of the School District of Milan :

The schools in our district have closed for the year 1906-7, and I deem it a privilege, as well as a duty to submit to you a brief account of the work done therein, and to urge upon you the importance of keeping in touch with them.

As a whole the advancement and interest in them has been good. In some schools it has been very marked. Advancement is not always reckoned by the number of pages gone over in each book, but by the thoroughness of the work done, and the manner of doing the work. I have noticed particularly in some schools the improvement in reading, writing and spelling, to my mind the three most important branches of education. The reading has been with understanding, the spelling on the whole, accurate, and the writing legible and neat. Children in the lowest grades have received very thorough instruction, and made great advancement. These first terms are of the greatest importance to all children.

Repairs.

The school-house on Milan Hill has been put in good condition by shingling, papering, etc. The building at West Milan has had the roof painted, walls kalsomined, and minor repairs. A new stove was placed on Hodgdon Hill. The inside of this house will need repairing, as the plastering is in bad condition. The same appropriation as was granted last year will I think keep all the buildings in good shape.

Books and Supplies.

We have endeavored to expend all money economically, and we trust to your satisfaction. No changes have been made in books. The Rational Readers, Primer and First, by Ward, have been placed in the schools as supplementary work to great advantage. I think it would be of great advantage to complete the series, and secure some other reading matter. Cabinet sets of eight maps each, have been placed in the two grammar schools, maps of the United States and some others are now in each of the other schools. These cabinets were quite expensive but in the end will be found cheaper, as the maps can be cared for. To-day no school is well equipped unless provided with maps and a good globe. Before long I hope to see a globe in each school.

The condition of many books in use but a short time is bad. They are scribbled in from one end to the other. No scholar really enjoys such a book. I do not think it well for a child to take a book another has used in such a way. I wish all you parents would co-operate with the teachers in instructing your children to use books carefully. School text book records are now in the schools in which the condition of books loaned is recorded. Pupils will now be held accountable for damage beyond ordinary wear.

Owing to the condition of the books quite a good many new ones will have to be bought. Some supplies are advancing in price. Therefore the appropriation for these purposes had better be increased.

It has been the aim of your school committee to have the schools so classified that the work done may conform as nearly as possible to work done in schools having a course of study. We have accomplished our aim quite well in the village schools, and made an improvement in the others ; so that the children who read in an advanced book will have knowledge of arithmetic, language and geography to correspond is our aim. I hope before another year closes to see a course of study that will include all lower grades, and at least the first year of a high school course adopted, and in good working shape.

We live in an age of progress. In the last twenty years even the methods of teaching have greatly changed and improved. We must compare our schools with those of today in other places to know their true value. We wish our children to have as good educational advantages as any others that they may equal them in life's work. Our schools are worthy of what is best in method and equipment. Money spent for school purposes is a safe investment. Add to it a little every year, that greater improvements may be made. We want to be able to secure teachers of such experience and ability for all the schools that our scholars if they do their part, may have a well-balanced education in all common branches before they pass the limit when they must attend school, and work provided so they can attend several years beyond the limit. This means a higher grade of teachers in the rural schools, higher wages and increased appropriation for schools.

Our teachers, in general, have worked faithfully and their reward in interested, progressing scholars has been gratifying. I hope it will be possible to retain these successful teachers, so much better work can be done.

Attendance in the schools has been good; it being 91 per cent of the number registered for the year ending July, 1906. Owing to sickness it has been more broken during the winter. Parents, please bear in mind that the amount of money received from the State for schools depends in a measure upon the attendance of your children at school. But this value to the town is nothing compared to the value to your children. Each day's lessons unlearned makes next days lessons so much harder. If the habit becomes habitual, as it is with a few, to remain at home just as much as they can and escape a call from the truant officer, interest in school work is lost. It is the interested scholars that make the advancement that you, themselves, teachers, and school officers are proud of. We find many such. O that all might be!

Would not all you, pupils, be proud to have your names on the list of Perfect Attendance? Try for it. If it is muddy, pick your way along; if cold, wrap up and hurry. You will not take cold as much as at home out doors playing in the snow. Learning is precious. The more you get the more you will want. The more you get the better men and women you will become; and best of all, the happier you will be. It is something that sickness or adversity can not take away. It will stay with you, and grow with you, if you will it so, as long as you live.

Parents, will you not visit the schools often during the coming year? I find it enjoyable and feel sure you will. Your presence will add much to your childrens' interest, the teachers' zeal, and you will see many things in a different light from what you sometimes think them before going.

I wish to thank you all, parents, pupils, citizens, teachers, members of the School Board for the pleasant relations we have enjoyed during the past two years. With my mistakes in management, I trust you will be lenient in judgment. It is my first experience in work of this kind. I delight in what improvement our schools make year by year, as much as a citizen as a member of the School Board. On retiring from the Board I hope the same harmony may always exist, and greater progress be made in our schools and school system.

Respectfully submitted,

VIRGINIA F. HAGAR.
